Conflict Resolution (SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY)
iResearchNet

Conflict resolution is studied in economics, law, business studies, sociology, psychology, communication sciences, and political sciences. It is part of the curriculum in biology, in history, and in theology. This multidisciplinary aspect makes it somewhat difficult to identify the history of conflict studies in social psychology. Nevertheless, three important developments serve as key

The Social Psychology of Identity and Inter group Conflict ...

The paper begins with an overview of three of the main theoretical contributions of social psychology to the problem of inter group conflict: social identity theory, stereotyping and prejudice, and contact theory. We then review how these theories have been applied by conflict resolution specialists in international and ethnic conflicts

as they have sought to moderate intergroup hostilities
